
PRESS RELEASE

Prof. Valmed® from Prof. Valmed – Validated medical information GmbH Now Available on SAP® Store

With its listing on SAP® Store, Prof. Valmed®, a CE-certified AI system for clinical decision support, is now even easier for hospitals and healthcare organizations to discover.

Langen, Germany – July 22, 2026 – Prof. Valmed – Validated medical information GmbH today announced that its solution Prof. Valmed® is now available on SAP® Store, the online marketplace for SAP and partner offerings. Prof. Valmed® provides physicians and clinical staff with validated medical information to support diagnostic and therapeutic decisions – as the first LLM-based clinical decision support system to carry a Class IIb CE mark under the EU Medical Device Regulation (MDR). The solution is available both as a standalone product and with the option of integration into all existing information systems.

“The real barrier to clinical AI is not the technology but the safe pathway into care: certification, integration, and visibility. With its listing on SAP Store, a Class IIb certified medical device for clinical decision support becomes easier for hospitals and healthcare organizations to discover – with no compromise on patient safety or regulatory compliance.”

Prof. Dr. Heinz Wiendl, Founder and Chief Medical Advisor, Prof. Valmed – Validated medical information GmbH

Prof. Valmed® is designed for hospitals, clinics, and office-based physicians. Core capabilities include:

- First LLM-powered system for diagnostic and therapeutic decision support with Class IIb CE certification under the MDR
- Proprietary medical library of more than 2.5 million manually curated and validated documents
- RAG-based knowledge retrieval on a closed, controlled database for highly reliable, domain-specific results
- In clinical use at Freiburg University Hospital since September 2025; winner of the DMEA nova Award 2026
- Straightforward integration into common hospital information systems and applications
